STATE CONVENTIONS.

Pennsylvania Democrats Nominate a State Treasurer.

The Platform Makes Declarations on Various Questions.

The Third Party in Massachusetts Name a State Ticket.

New Mexico's Constitutional Convention Ready for Work.

Pennsylvania Democrats.

HARRISBURG, September 4.—The democratic state convention met this morning. Hon Samuel W. Wherry, of Cumberland, was chosen temporary chairman. In his speech of acceptance he eulogized Cleveland, the mention of whose name was received with great applause. The usual committees were chosen and recess taken.

Congressman J. R. Riley was made permanent chairman. The platform applauds the action of President Cleveland looking toward tariff reform; reaffirms the declarations of principles made by the democracy at St. Louis in '88, especially that demanding revision and reduction of tariff taxes; favors admission free of duty of all raw material where it will enlarge our product and increase the demand for labor; denounces trusts; accepts the decision of the people of Pennsylvania on the prohibition amendment as a declaration in favor of the reasonable, just and effective regulation of the traffic in alcoholic spirits; favors the Australian ballot system; advocates liberal pension laws for honorably discharged soldiers, but the giving of pensions to other persons is denounced as an injustice to the deserving.

Edward A. Bigler, of Clearfield county, was nominated for state treasurer. Adjourned.

WORCESTER, September 4.—The state prohibition convention was called to order this morning. George Kempton of Sharon was chosen permanent chairman. The usual committees were appointed and retired for conference.

When the committees reported Dr. [illegible] Blackmer of Springfield was nominated for governor, and B. F. Sturtevant of Jamaica Plain for lieutenant governor.

New [illegible]

SANTA FE, N. M., September 4.—The constitutional convention elected Ira M. Bond chief clerk, Benjamin M. Read interpreter, George G. Gans sergeant-at-arms, Fred [illegible], a colored man, stenographer, and Father Jouvenceau chaplain. The special committee to which was referred the various propositions for standing committees and their duties reported and the report was adopted. The committees consist of five members each on the legislative, executive and judicial departments and on elective franchise, on education, on [illegible] requirements and taxation on public institutions and buildings on public and private corporations, on revision, adjustment and enrollment, on [illegible], bill of rights, [illegible] and miscellaneous subjects and one from each county on apportionment.

Conspicuous and active members of the convention are Mariano Otero, J. Francisco Chavez and Trinidad Romero, who have represented New Mexico in congress. Thos. B. Catron and W. F. Claney, prominent attorneys of Santa Fe, who have served in various territorial official capacities; Judge W. C. Hazeldine, Pedro Perea and E. S. Stover, of Albuquerque, the latter formerly lieutenant governor of Kansas; A. J. Fountain, formerly lieutenant governor of Texas; A. W. L. Rynerson, of Dona Ana; Judge Bell, ex-associate justice; Judge Bristol, of Silver City; Judge Kel[illegible] and Secretary W. G. Ritch, of Socorro; Geo. W. Prichard, attorney, and Jefferson Reynolds banker and capitalist, of Las Vegas; Nepomuceno Galles, of Sierra; Judge Trimble, of Albuquerque, temporary chairman, was formerly member of congress from Kentucky.

CHEYENNE, September 4.—The constitutional convention to-day received the report of the committee on rules, which was adopted. They reported in favor of nineteen committees to handle the work of the convention. [illegible] adjourned until to-morrow to give the president a chance to make up the personnel of the committees.

I[illegible]

DES MOINES, September 4.—The union labor party concluded its convention here to-day, nominating a full state ticket as follows: Governor, S. B. Downing, Davis county; lieutenant governor, Ezra Brownell, Madison county; judge of supreme court, M. H. J[illegible], Davis county; superintendent of schools, Mrs. [illegible] Belknap, Polk county; railroad commissioner, L. H. Griffith, Cass county. The platform favors the election of U. S. senators by the people; paying the national debt face value, loaning money to farmers by the government at a low rate of interest, government operation of railroads and telegraphs, income tax, Australian ballot system, reclamation of unearned land grants.

South Dakota Democrats.

HURON, S. D., September 4.—The first democratic convention of South Dakota met this afternoon, being called to order by J. E. Carpenter, of the state central committee. After some little wrangling Col. Wm. R. Steele, of Deadwood, was chosen temporary chairman. Committees were appointed and the convention adjourned until evening.

After appointing committees on rules and platform the convention entered into a discussion on the appointment of a state central committee, which was still in progress.

W[illegible] R[illegible]

PORTLAND, Ore., September 4.—At the Washington territory republican convention at Walla Walla, A. P. Ferry was nominated for governor on the [illegible] ballot. He received 176 votes, Kin[illegible] 180, Hollett 12.

New York [illegible]

SYRACUSE, September 4.—The prohibition state convention opened this morning with many ladies as delegates.

SYRACUSE, September 4.—Prof A. A. Hopkins of Rochester was elected temporary chairman. The usual committees were appointed and recess taken.

When the convention assembled permanent organization was made. The committee on finance reported that there was a deficiency of $2500 last fall, several counties having failed in their contribution. Six thousand dollars were needed to pay the deficiency and meet the expenses of the coming campaign. This will help destroy the liquor traffic. In a short time $5987 was pledged by those present. Adjourned until to-morrow morning.

Wanamaker's Scheme.

NEW YORK, September 4.—Postmaster General Wanamaker recently summoned to Washington various officials of telegraph companies in order to lay before them some details of and make proposals for a new postal telegraph service which he has had under consideration for some time. Dr. Green, president of the Western Union, was one of these officials, and has just returned from the conference. He gave this afternoon, to a reporter, some details of the proposed scheme. Dr. Green did not look upon the project in a very favorable light. "It would be distinctly a second class delivery service. There would not be immediate delivery by postoffices, but stated times of delivery as is the case with letters now." Business and commercial men, he believed, would not avail themselves of such a service, when they can have first class service messages delivered by the company the very moment received. It is, however, extension of the telegraph service that forms the chief feature of Wanamaker's scheme. There are at present 59,000 postoffices in the country. About 19,000 have a telegraph service. Dr. Green said of the 19,000 receiving offices which the company now has about two thirds were profitless. Dr. Green was very much inclined to doubt the financial success of extending the lines to 40,000 little places in order to make the blessings of the telegraph service well nigh universal for the people.

Mexico's Duty on Cattle.

NEW YORK, September 4.—A City of Mexico special to the Times' says: The Mexican government has revised article 1 of its customs tariff, wherein living animals are made free of duty, and has imposed heavy duties on imported cattle, swine, sheep, mules and goats, a measure that cannot fail to have a most disastrous effect on the business of supplying this city with meat from the United States. This business has already grown to large proportions and railway companies have provided special stock and refrigerator cars to meet the growing wants of this profitable trade. Now the government steps in and places a duty of 10 cents per kilogram on fresh meat, and three on each beef animal, $2 25 on pigs, $2 on mules and 83 cents on sheep. This goes into effect November 1st.

KANSAS CITY, September 4.—The firm of F[illegible] & Co. and the Swift Packing Co. of this city deny the truth of the dispatch from the City of Mexico to the New York Times to the effect that there was no duty [illegible] on imported cattle. P[illegible] that a duty has been imposed for some time.

[illegible] the West.

CHICAGO, September 4.—A special train left Chicago this evening carrying a hundred delegates to the conference of charities and corrections to be held in San Francisco. Most of the delegates arrived here last night and this morning and [illegible] at the Grand Pacific hotel where headquarters were opened. They were from all parts of the United States. The president of the conference is Right Rev. Bishop Gillespie, of western Michigan, who this afternoon held an informal reception. The party will be under the conduct of Secretary Wines of the Illinois state board of public charities. The program includes a [illegible] and [illegible] at Denver and a stop next Monday in Salt Lake City where the party will attend services in the Mormon tabernacle. San Francisco will be reached Tuesday evening. The conference will be in session one week. Many of the delegates will return by way of Portland, Oregon, where a [illegible] and supplementary meeting will be held.

Failure of a Bank.

CEDAR RAPIDS, Ia., September 4.—The failure of the banking house of L. S. Brooks of Lennox, Iowa, yesterday caused much excitement here, and it has been increasing hourly. Brooks and his cashier have [illegible], and a crowd of depositors of the bank threatened them with personal violence, but there is little danger of anything but talk. Several depositors say they questioned Brooks and his cashier about the bank's soundness within the past four days and being assured of its solvency deposited their money [illegible] after banking hours on Saturday. Attachments have been levied upon all of Brooks' property. The sheriff found the vaults empty of cash. Brooks says he will pay, but creditors are not hopeful. Congressman Flick and other attorneys have been retained by the creditors to fight the case through the courts.

The President's Movements.

WASHINGTON, September 4.—President and Mrs. Harrison, accompanied by Dr. Scott and Private Secretary Halford, arrived at the White House to-day from Deer Park at 2.45 p. m. There was no regular cabinet meeting, but within his brief stay at the White House the president managed to see Secretary Tracy, Attorney General Miller and Assistant Secretary Batchellor, and thus gather an idea of the course of business in most of the departments. No appointments were forthcoming as the result of these interviews. A few minutes before 4 o'clock the party again entered carriages and were driven to the Baltimore and Ohio railroad station, where they took a train for Philadelphia.

Sensational Arrest.

DENVER, September 4.—Late last night Frank Gennisey, a brakeman on the Union Pacific, fell under his train near Greeley and was crushed to death. Some days ago Gennisey had a difficulty with four tramps, whom he put off the train near Cheyenne, and a number of shots were exchanged, a ball from the brakeman's revolver striking James Carroll in the foot. Some of Gennisey's friends are inclined to believe that the same tramps boarded the train at Greeley and threw him under the train while in motion. Officers are looking into the case, and Carroll has been arrested pending investigation.

Ex-Congressman Scott's Colt, Chaos, Wins the Prize.

Twenty Thousand Witness the Great Race of the Year.

Dressed Beef Magnates Refuse to Obey the Senators.

The Futurity Stake.

SHEEPSHEAD BAY, September 4.—A cloud of dust, a flash of silk, the shouts of 20,000 persons, and Chaos, son of Rayon D'Or and Lillie R., won $67,000 for his owner, W. L. Scott. The favorite, St Carlo was a good second; in fact many thought he had won as the finish could not be seen as it was opposite the club house, and it was only when "No 19" went up the crowd was sure as to the winner.

The twenty three starters after two breaks got away to a beautiful start. Santiago had the advantage, with Marie Lovell second. Onaway, King's Own, Protection, Penn R., Sam Doxey and Prodigal Son were next. The others were well bunched, with St Carlo in a bad position. At the end of the first furlong they were stretched across, almost aligned. At the head of the home stretch Chaos had a lead of two lengths. Eberlee and St. Carlo were next. By this time half the field was whipping, but it helped them none, as the leader still held his own. As they came to the judges' stand St. Carlo and Sinaloa began to close up. The distance was too short, and Chaos got the verdict by a good neck. St. Carlo was two lengths in front of Sinaloa. Time 1.16 4 5.

At Chicago.

CHICAGO, September 4.—The senatorial investigation into the dressed beef and transportation industries arrived at a position this morning, when it became necessary to resort to vigorous measures or acknowledge the whole affair a farce. Swift, the millionaire dressed beef dealer, had been subpoenaed for the third time, and it was reported that he agreed to appear this evening. He did not come. P. D. Armour, on whom a summons was served, stated that he could not appear at the hour named, but would let the commission know when he would be able to attend.

Secretary George T. Williams, of the Union Stock Yards company, was ordered to appear with a list of stockholders of the company and other information on hand, but on the advice of his counsel refused to give names.

The first witness examined was President Sherman of the Stock Yards company. His testimony gave an insight into the extent of the business and business methods of the company. In answer to a question as to whether there were any relations between the stock yards at Omaha and Kansas City and those at Chicago said there was none.

CHICAGO, September 4.—At the afternoon sitting Chairman Vest in discussing the absence of Mr. Armour and other gentlemen said he was sorry these gentlemen had refused their attendance, but although they could compel attendance they could not compel an unwilling witness to testify to all he knew. "I have here a telegram," continued Senator Vest, "about which I have desired to personally ask Mr. Armour, but as he has refused to appear here I will read it anyway. It was sent me by a gentleman about whose respectability there can be no question. The message is as follows.

"Can't allow Schwab to continue killing live stock. If he will not stop make other arrangements and make the price so we can get his trade.

[Signed] ARMOUR & CO."

The following was then unanimously passed after which the committee adjourned.

WHEREAS, Philip Armour, Nelson Morris, Louis F. Swift, Frank E. Vorgie, J. S. Newman and Jacob Meyer having been duly and lawfully summoned to appear as witnesses before this committee, have repeatedly refused to obey the same, it is ordered that the facts be reported to the chairman of the senate of the United States at its next session.

A reporter for the associated press called on Mr. Armour and asked for an interview. Mr. Armour made the following statement. The reason we did not appear before the senatorial committee was that we knew we could not expect fair treatment from the hands of Senator Vest, who is notoriously on record as opposed to the dressed beef business. He is the champion and advocate of St. Louis' deserted cattle market and opposed to Chicago interests. He has been friendly to all hostile beef inspection bills that have been introduced in the various state legislatures against Chicago dressed beef, which if passed would have destroyed this business. We are perfectly willing to appear before an impartial committee and give any information pertaining to our business which is not of a strictly private nature. We have never exerted any influence to depress the price of cattle or fix the price of dressed beef. On the other hand it is a well known fact that cattle are $1 per hundred higher than they would be if it was not for the dressed beef industry, and we can get a great deal more out of the bullock than a butcher or man who kills in small quantities. We have never had any association with Swift, Hammond or Morris directly or indirectly in the purchase of cattle. The telegram Mr. Vest read this afternoon for the sake of getting it on record was directed to our own agent, who had a perfect right that he should not kill cattle if he sold our [illegible] beef, and it is entirely stripped of its force when the fact is understood that the man was our own representative.

The Mississippi Outbreak.

NEW ORLEANS, September 4.—A special from Greenwood, Miss., says: From present appearances it looks as though the sun of peace would supersede the cloud of war. The sheriff of this county returned from Minter City, the seat of war, last evening and reports everything quiet up there. Four of the ringleaders, named Adolph Horton, Scott Morris, M. J. Dial and Jack Dial, were killed. Excitement [illegible] negro had been killed [illegible] night for refusing to take up arms against the white people. Upon the arrival of the troops it was learned that a party of about 100 negroes well armed with Winchester rifles were encamped near [illegible] Minter City. A [illegible] party of citizens [illegible] After [illegible] through a dense [illegible] of cane and timber they arrived at the place designated as the camp of the negroes but they had moved to some other place. Search was at once instituted. A party while passing through a plantation came upon Adolph Horton and Jack Dial and they were commanded to surrender. They drew pistols and started to run, when they were shot down. Other leaders were killed this morning while resisting arrest. Thomas Allen and Cromwell, the instigators of the insurrection, have not been arrested, but the whites and the better class of negroes are determined to bring them to justice. The best feeling prevails between the whites and the better class of negroes.

NEW ORLEANS, September 4.—A Times-Democrat's Greenwood, Miss., special says: The most dastardly outrage since the beginning of the trouble in the upper part of the county was perpetrated by George Allen and his squad of fifteen negroes last night by the burning of Mr. Jamieson's store at Shady Grove, on the Tallahatchie river. They went there and asked for powder and shot. Jamieson refused to let them have any, and they told him they would either burn his house or kill him. They caught him, set fire to his house, firing off their guns in the meantime and making other hostile demonstrations. Jamison got away and went to Sunnyside, informing the people what had happened. About the same time a negro deserter from Allen's band came up and offered to pilot the whites to Allen's camp at Lone Star bend if they would spare him and his two brothers who were among Allen's men. About 200 men at once started for the hostile camp, which is about six miles above Sunnyside, but it has not been learned whether they succeeded in capturing him yet. It is not likely he will be taken alive as he is a very desperate negro.

The Great Strike.

LONDON, September 4. John Burns delivered an address to strikers to-day at Tower Hill. He denounced arbitration; denied reports that dock men were going to work, said it was expected strikes would be inaugurated in Glasgow to-day and in Southampton on Thursday.

LONDON, September 4. There is a marked increase this morning in the number of dockmen resuming work.

LIVERPOOL, September 4.—The strike here has ended, employers having conceded the advance demanded.

LONDON, September 4.—The police fired upon a crowd of strikers who were obstructing the work of loading steamers, fatally wounding one man.

LONDON, September 5.—The strike committee sat until 2 o'clock this (Thursday) morning. It was decided that the committee would [illegible] to the men resuming work at any wharf paying six pence an hour ordinary time and eight pence an hour overtime, the "plus" in piece work to be equally divided between journeymen and foremen.

Irrigation in the West.

WASHINGTON, September 4. J. C. Pilling, acting director of the geological survey, has made a report to the secretary of the interior of the progress made during the month of July in the survey for the irrigation and reclamation of arid lands in the west. Under the topographic division the total area surveyed was [illegible] square miles. Operations are being conducted in California, Colorado, Idaho, Montana, New Mexico and Nevada. In the hydraulic division one field party in California completed the survey of Clear lake with a view to ascertain its capabilities as a reservoir site and ascertain the best means of storing water and applying it to lands below its outlet. Donner lake near Truckee in the western Nevada section is being surveyed. It is thought by the construction of a reservoir two miles below the lake's outlet a large body of water can be stored at a very moderate cost. Work in the Rio Grande section was confined to the careful survey of a large reservoir site which was practicable by the construction of a dam in the Grande near El Paso. This project, the report says, is one of profound interest, and perhaps will involve international questions. Care has been taken to avoid any action which would complicate the success of the questions if they should arise.

Work on the Jury.

CHICAGO, September 4.—The work of securing a jury in the Cronin case was resumed this morning. The only matter of interest developed was a ruling by Judge McConnell, excusing Talesman W. P. Turner for cause. Turner testified that he was a member of the American League, or Independent Order of Deputies, whose object is to prevent members of the Roman Catholic church from holding or controlling political offices in this country. The talesman, however, thought this would not influence his action, and he could give the defendants a fair trial, even if it were shown they were members of the Clan na Gael. The defense challenged him for cause, and the court sustained the challenge.

Wintry Weather.

ST PAUL, September 4.—Reports from North Dakota and portions of this state have been received, telling of a heavy storm last night. Grand Forks says a terrific electrical and wind storm prevailed last night within an area of 100 miles of that city. Telegraph poles between there and Fargo were blown down and communication interrupted. The damage in that neighborhood is thought to be heavy. A Jamestown correspondent of the Pioneer Press says the heaviest wind, rain and thunder storm in years prevailed last night but no great damage has yet been reported. The weather is [illegible] and considerable damage will result.

Washington Notes.

WASHINGTON, September 4. The secretary of the interior to-day appointed Albert F. Childs of Ohio chief clerk of the census office.

It is understood a meeting of members of the cabinet will be held at noon Saturday next. The subject of an extra session of congress will probably be discussed then and a decision reached.

Captain Robert Boyd has been selected by Secretary Tracy as supervisor of the port of New York.

In 1852 the people then living in the territory now known as Washington, met in convention and requested that their territory be separated from Oregon and that it be named Columbia. Congress acted favorably on this request and reported the bill. The Hon. Richard H. Stanton moved when the bill was [illegible] consideration that the name Washington be substituted for Columbia on the ground that Columbus was sufficiently honored in having the District of Columbia named after him. He also called attention to the fact that no state or territory had been yet named after the "Father of His Country." Mr. Stanton's motion was carried, and in 1853 the bill organizing Washington territory became a law. This is the history of a [illegible]

It is pretty difficult to account for the change in votes in Louisiana. The election in the Third district, which took place on Monday, is said to have resulted in giving the [illegible] this [illegible] six [illegible] majority. This same district gave [illegible] six [illegible] republican majority in '80, and about two [illegible] and majority in '82. In 1880 it gave a democratic majority of twelve [illegible] five hundred and twenty three. Of course there is no legitimate [illegible] for such [illegible] in votes. It looks as though in the election of '88 there was no attempt to have either an honest election or an [illegible] count. In fact it is [illegible] given out by democratic leaders to day that there will be no [illegible] rule in the south and that a negro's vote will not be [illegible] unless he votes the democratic ticket.

On the twelfth of [illegible], the eighty Pennsylvania [illegible] which were a part of the Army of the Potomac at the [illegible] of the battle of Gettysburg, will meet on the battle field to commemorate the day. Each [illegible] has, or soon will have, a monument erected on the site on which it played the most important part in this [illegible] decisive battle of the war. It is to [illegible] that [illegible] the veterans [illegible]. This was the only great battle fought on northern soil and Pennsylvania, of all the states, had most of the [illegible] of the day. The [illegible] that Pennsylvania gave to the army, General Reynolds, was shot on the first day, while leading his [illegible] to repel the [illegible] of his native state. Hancock, the superb, was also a Pennsylvanian, and had the [illegible] to [illegible] at the [illegible] on the third day when Pickett's charge was repelled. Perhaps the fighting of no single soldier did so much to win the day as Hancock's on the third. Gibbon, who succeeded to the [illegible] of the second corps, was also a Pennsylvanian, as also was Humphreys, who before Petersburg commanded the [illegible]. And last, though not least, the general commander of the army, General Meade, was a Pennsylvanian, who, [illegible] his high [illegible], was in command of the Pennsylvania [illegible]. At the point where, for a moment, it seemed possible that the brave troops of Pickett, with Garnett at their head, would successfully pierce the [illegible] line, [illegible] were [illegible] brave Pennsylvanian regiments [illegible] won the day. The survivors of the eighty regiments will be [illegible] the command of General Gregg, who commanded a division of cavalry in the battle. The troops will be organized as they were on the battlefield, in corps, divisions and brigades. Of the distinguished Pennsylvanians who took part in this battle and are still alive, there are Gibbon, Gregg and Brooke, the latter of whom commanded a brigade and was recently made brigadier general in the regular army. Meade, Hancock, Reynolds and Humphreys are dead. The Press calls attention to the fact that while shafts will commemorate the deeds of every Pennsylvanian on that field of battle, [illegible] are there to call to mind the [illegible] commander of the army or Hancock, and doubtless at this coming celebration something will be done to do them tardy justice.

The address delivered by David Dudley Field before the American Bar association last week is full of interesting matter. One of the best features of the address was the [illegible] against the wordy way in which legal papers are usually drawn up. The laity has frequently protested against legal phraseology. It is not necessary for either [illegible] or definition. Practically, half of the words in a legal paper could be left out without in any way marring the [illegible]. A good many lawyers seem to think it makes the papers much [illegible] by sticking in the "aforesaid," "party of the first part" and "the [illegible] part" at every opportunity. David Dudley Field's protest against this wordy method of expression is very timely and very forcible, and it is to be hoped that it will have an [illegible] on some of our courts and law schools. But the most remarkable part of his address is the following:

"In [illegible] to our duty to the state, I [illegible] we are far behind in the [illegible] of [illegible] I know that I am here [illegible] on delicate [illegible]; but I fear, to many of my [illegible], but I must speak my [illegible] for [illegible] it is my duty to [illegible] in plain language. We are a [illegible] of things we have done and are doing, and yet [illegible] shows [illegible] such as is to be seen in [illegible] part of the [illegible]. No [illegible] where it takes so long to [illegible] a criminal and so many years to get a final [illegible] between man and man. Truly may we say that justice [illegible] through the land on leaden [illegible]. [illegible] worthy journalist asserted at one of our conferences [illegible] more [illegible] every year than are executed in the [illegible]; and yet we have, it is computed, nearly [illegible] lawyers in the country."

The thing that Mr. Field condemns would not probably exist if there were but ten thousand instead of seventy thousand lawyers. It is the fact that there are so many [illegible] justice that [illegible]. As a matter of [illegible] this country [illegible] engaged in defending [illegible] and [illegible] Gould [illegible] steal [illegible] from other people without going [illegible]. The state furnish [illegible] as a [illegible] great experience [illegible] the office requires [illegible] really prominent [illegible] allowed to occupy [illegible] given. We [illegible] Mr. Field, himself [illegible] of this, for he was engaged with several other lawyers [illegible] present [illegible] his just deserts. During the coming term of the district court [illegible] the Hon. Isaac Stevens will [illegible] appear as district attorney [illegible] cases which will be [illegible]. It is simply impossible for him to fight on equal terms in them. In the first place he will have a larger number of important cases to conduct than any of the lawyers who have had greater experience and greater knowledge of law, if not greater ability, than the district attorney. It would have been well if Mr. Field, though he could not have reasonably been expected to say it, had denounced the practice of great lawyers in prostituting their talents for large fees to aid in getting off criminals. It is one thing to see that justice is fairly done the criminal, but it is another thing to conspire with him to defeat the ends of justice.

[illegible] Market.

NEW YORK, September 4.—The stocks to day were less active than yesterday, and at the same time more irregular and feverish, with [illegible] marked gains in speculative favorites and the general list moved within narrow limits. Northern Pacific preferred opened close up to the best price for a week past. The selling in that stock, however, was marked, and the pressure so great that a drop of 1½ was scored in the first few minutes. Common also displayed pronounced strength and [illegible] a rise of 1½. Later in the day both gave way under heavy [illegible] against them, and the [illegible] of the day were made in them at the close, the loss in preferred during the last hour being nearly 3 per cent. [illegible] the general list up to [illegible] were generally in an upward direction, and later on coal stock became a leading strong feature. The close under the influence of free selling of Northern Pacific was heavy to weak. Final changes of note among the active stocks were advances of 2½ in Delaware and Hudson and 1 per cent in Colorado Coal and a decline of 2½ in Northern Pacific preferred.

A [illegible]

DENVER, September 4.—The coroner's jury in the R[illegible] abortion case was [illegible] to day, the jury finding that the "deceased came to her death August 30th last from septic poisoning, resulting from acute inflammation following abortion, and that said abortion was produced with the knowledge and assistance of Dr. G. W. Corey." The jury made no charges against the nurse, Mrs Strong.

A number of other talesmen were examined. Two were temporarily passed and a recess taken until to-morrow morning in order to give defendants' counsel an opportunity to consult as to whether they will turn the four men now in waiting [illegible] to the state for accept[illegible].

Drowned in Lake Michigan.

CHICAGO, September 4.—Two fishermen, John and Edward Brocher, and 15 year old Charles Bluhm, were drowned in Lake Michigan to day off Thirty-eighth street. The trio were a mile and a half [illegible] squall capsized their smack. Too heavy a sea was running for them to cling to the boat or swim ashore. All three went under almost immediately. None of the bodies were recovered.

An Escape [illegible] Danger.

PITTSBURG, September 4.—The limited train from the east was delayed last night through one of the most unexpected and surprising accidents since the vestibule train has been started between Philadelphia and Harrisburg. The roofs of the two forward coaches caught fire through friction, which wore off the rubber casing and got the steel plates red hot. The fire was easily extinguished, but the fact of the fire has set railroad people thinking.

Nagle's Orders.

SAN FRANCISCO, September 4.—In the [illegible] corpus proceedings in the case of Deputy Marshal Nagle to day, Marshal Franks said when Justice Field left for Los Angeles about the 7th he instructed Nagle to accompany him, watch the Terrys and prevent them doing Field any violence. He called Nagle's attention to the fact that Terry was not an ordinary man and warned the deputy to take no chances but to protect Field at all hazards.

HE IS A VERY BRAINY MAN.

REFERENCE IS HERE MADE TO EX-SPEAKER JOHN G. CARLISLE.

In the Opinion of Most, and Regardless of Political Preferences, He Is the Most Intellectual Man In Public Life in the United States.

[illegible]

WASHINGTON, [illegible] ask [illegible] newspaper [illegible] observers [illegible] probably a large [illegible] Ex-Speaker Carlisle [illegible] would have [illegible] admitted by Republicans [illegible] members of his own party. Without any great personal popularity [illegible] comes from good fellowship, genial manners and the arts of [illegible] Carlisle nevertheless has such a hold upon the members of the house that in all probability he could be elected speaker for a [illegible] of years could his party but obtain and hold the majority. In the opinion of many statesmen, Republicans and Democrats alike, Carlisle was the greatest speaker that ever presided over the house of representatives. A [illegible] ful speaker of the [illegible] must have many qualities of a high order. He is a judge who must interpret the few-score rules of the house [illegible] of times a day.

These interpretations must not only be [illegible] instantly as [illegible] quires, but they must be rendered in language that is [illegible] upon the records, in form and habiliments absolutely extemporaneous. Sitting where the fierce conflicts of party culminate, where the passions and selfish [illegible] of men clamor loud est for advantage, where the confusion is distracting to the [illegible] and destructive of the nervous forces, where even the physical strength is often sorely tax[ed], the [speaker] is called upon to hand down decisions which [illegible] or tear his [illegible]. In the nature of the case little or no deliberation is [possi]ble, unlike the judge on the judicial seat, he has no [opportun]ity for writing out his [illegible]. The war of words rages before him, logic, learning and [illegible] are poured out by the [illegible] of the contending forces in [illegible] debate [illegible] ing perfection, and then the [illegible].

All eyes are [illegible] upon the [illegible]. A few [illegible] pens, and that officer rises in his [illegible]. It has [illegible] of great happenings when the speaker rises to announce a ruling—and the [illegible] arrived. When Carlisle had such a [illegible] it was curious to watch the faces of the [illegible]. There was an expression which [illegible] to say, "Now we shall have the truth; now the [illegible] of all will throw a flood of light on this [illegible] which [illegible] have scintillated upon [illegible] dis sing." With [illegible] as a bell and [illegible] as [illegible] a Choate or a Macaulay's, Mr. Carlisle's de[cision] [illegible] was [illegible] nounced.

There [illegible] upon by him, a [illegible] was [illegible] and [illegible] the [illegible] and [illegible] of his [illegible]. It is a [illegible] fact [illegible] of Carlisle['s] [illegible] ever [appe]aled from in the house.

Last winter [there] was a notable [illegible] over the rules. The [illegible] was vital to the life of an important [illegible]. It [illegible] a party question, and the leaders of the right and the left joined in the debate. For two or three days the [illegible] in by [illegible] McKinley, [illegible] Crisp of [illegible] and [illegible]. At last the [illegible] were all [illegible] and every eye was turned toward the [illegible] Mr. Carlisle rapped once with his gavel, [illegible] and in his [illegible] style traced the origin of the rule in [question], described its [illegible] and application [illegible] with such [illegible] logic, that [illegible] man on the floor, no [mat]ter what his [illegible] felt that the [illegible] right.

Among the [illegible] of men [illegible] ing Mr. Carlisle was William McKinley, Jr. Mr. McKinley leaned forward in his seat, intently [illegible] and listening. He [illegible] like one entranced [illegible] the [illegible] had ended, [illegible] McKinley [illegible] to his neighbor, ex-Governor [illegible] of [illegible] put his hand on the [illegible] shoulder, and said:

CARLISLE IN THE CHAIR.

"[Th]at man never had a [illegible] thought."

[Car]lisle is a [illegible] lawyer. In the [illegible] of good judges he has no equal in [illegible] of the [illegible] of law, [illegible] it be in [illegible] the Miller of the [illegible]. The [illegible] is not what one [illegible] would term a [illegible]. To him [illegible] ago Joe Blackburn, now a [illegible] but [illegible] for [illegible] of the [illegible] was Carlisle.

"Carlisle is entitled to mighty little [illegible] for what he has done in this world," [illegible] "In fact, he is not [entitled] to half as [illegible] as I am. The little I [illegible] I have [illegible] hard for. I have had to study, dig, grub, toil. Now [illegible] is [illegible]. He knows about four [illegible] as much as I do, and it has all come to him without an effort on his part. He has all the wisdom of [illegible] and of the [illegible] together. To say a great thing, to say it better than anybody else could say the [illegible].

[illegible] years ago he was a lawyer [illegible] Covington, Ky., a [illegible] from Cincinnati. There he earned a [illegible] in the practice of his profession, principally as ad[illegible] During his [illegible] public life he has [illegible] in the high office of speaker of the [illegible] in [illegible] but one [illegible] he [illegible].

The ex-speaker's [illegible] intellect is judicial, logical, analytical, keen as a ray of sun[light], but unswerving. A favorite [illegible] his many [illegible] is the one that [illegible] of by McKinley, from whom [illegible] on the [illegible] above [illegible]. They say "C[illegible] for him to [illegible] and the [illegible] of an [illegible] guilty of the [illegible]. No [illegible] felt that he [illegible] how, in the [illegible] he can be [illegible] in favor of [illegible], not a few of Carlisle's [illegible] have [illegible] at his [illegible] refusal to [illegible] in their be half.

"Carlisle would [illegible]

[illegible] I [illegible] we have had since Marshall [illegible] It is not generally known [illegible] Carlisle came to being chief justice. When President Cleveland had a vacancy to fill after the death of Chief Justice Waite he turned first to the speaker of the house. To Mr. Cleveland Mr. [illegible] conspicuously fit for the high [illegible] not been [illegible] for [illegible] at the White House. He told the president Carlisle could not be [illegible] by [illegible] nominated [illegible] which for a wonder Mr. Cleveland placed [illegible].

As soon as Mr. Carlisle's friends heard of this, which was not for some days, they made a systematic and thorough canvass of the [illegible] to see how many [illegible] members would dare vote against the great speaker of the [illegible] a legislative branch [illegible] but little higher than [illegible] and [illegible] past. With [illegible] except on the senators of both political parties announced their willingness to vote for Mr. Carlisle's nomination. Representative Hatch [illegible] then [illegible] carried the news to the speaker, whom he found in the barber's chair in the house retiring rooms. When these friends told the result of their inquiries, the speaker, with a turn of his head or motion [illegible] supposition of [illegible] in his voice, replied:

Within an hour Mr. Fuller's name was sent to the senate.

Why should there be doubt of Carlisle's confirmation as chief justice? This is the question which naturally occurs to the reader [ac]quainted with the facts, as doubtless most readers are. It is a question which forces [itself] on the journalist, the letter writer, the historian of the day, a problem in the ethics of his profession. Fortunately the private lives of public men are not the subjects of idle gossip in the columns of reputable newspapers. If they were, how many idols would be shattered, how many hearts would be filled with [illegible], none but the veteran journalist familiar with all the lights and [illegible] of life in the capital, is [illegible] of [illegible]. Merely as an [illegible] of this, there is a [illegible] but very [illegible] senator, well along in years, but with glorious possibilities in his future, as well as [illegible] past behind him. Though one of the best men in the world to be [illegible] of evil, there are a half dozen [illegible] both male and female, who could, if they [illegible] blast the private part of his fair fame by simply opening their [illegible].

Mr. Carlisle's failing is not of this sort. His reputation is at no man's [illegible] but his own. His [illegible] is not a [illegible], is not a [illegible] that subjects him to obloquy. It is simply such a fault as scores of good and lovable men have, [illegible] afflicted with, as Daniel [Webster] was afflicted. But for this fault, which [illegible], and which is to be [illegible] of always in [illegible] and [illegible] in criticism, Mr. Carlisle would now be the chief justice of the [illegible] of the United States.

When congress meets a few [weeks] hence, the smooth, [illegible] face of Mr. Carlisle will be missed from the speaker's [chair], where it has been seen for six [illegible] years. It is [illegible] to say that the new speaker, be he Reed, McKinley, Cannon, Burrows, [illegible] will not [illegible] to acknowledge that during the [illegible] he [illegible] taken Carlisle as his [model], only hoping [some] day to be worthy of sitting in his chair. The ex-speaker now takes his place on the floor, where with [illegible] he will at once, by [illegible] the [illegible] of his [party]. There is no [illegible] with [illegible] for if the [illegible] loses the services of the [illegible] it has ever had, it will gain an [illegible] on the floor.

Mr. Carlisle was a perfect speaker [illegible] when he sat as a judge, arbiter of the rights of [illegible] and parties, and guardian of the [illegible] of individuals under the rules. As a disciplinarian he was not always [illegible] ful, [illegible] but indifferent, almost stolid, a [illegible] of the chair [illegible]. Soon his favorite [illegible] delivered always with the [illegible] peculiar [illegible] and snort [illegible] "The house will be in order!"—that its force and effectiveness, though often [illegible] by sharp [illegible] of the gavel [illegible] he chose [illegible] and to [illegible] to the [illegible] and therefore indicative of [illegible] to see the storm clear and the troubled waters [illegible] still. There is [illegible] in a voice, and Mr. Carlisle has a voice which [illegible] every one who hears it, not for its great strength or [illegible], but by the [illegible] and [illegible].

On the floor of the [house] at the coming [session] will be these ex-speakers: Mr. Carlisle, Nat[illegible] P. Banks, of Massachusetts, and [illegible] J. Randall of Pennsylvania leaving out of the count S. S. Cox, who was [illegible] at the first [illegible] of the Forty-fourth [illegible] during the [illegible] of Speaker Kerr.

If Mr. Carlisle lives long enough, and he is now but 54, he is likely to find [illegible] in the senate. Kentucky has already heaped many [honors] upon him, and will in [illegible] time [illegible] to heap many [illegible]. As a country boy, Mr. Carlisle's education was simply that of a country school, in which he [illegible] after and the [illegible]. An [illegible] of his [illegible] is a [illegible] long but [illegible] member of the state [illegible] of the state senate, [illegible] governor, representative in congress, [illegible] of the [illegible] GRAVES.

OUR NEW YORK LETTER.

THE ART FLORIST AND WHAT HE DOES FOR SOCIETY IN GOTHAM.

He Appears at First Sight to Be a Sort of Fancy Man but Acquaintance [illegible] That He Fills a Valuable Place. A Brief [illegible] From Life.

[Special Correspondence.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—[illegible] (dently [illegible] is [illegible] ing new [illegible]. It's latest [illegible] trade or profession [illegible] though [illegible] very [illegible] of the fact. The art florist, [illegible] the old fashioned florist, is the proprietor of [illegible] house and the other [illegible] growing the [illegible] [illegible] is an art decorator [illegible].

[illegible] members of this new guild [illegible] Astoria. In speaking of [illegible] I went into this business [illegible] I had been a florist [illegible] the grounds [illegible] of experts [illegible] and [illegible] the wealthy classes, and as the [illegible] was very hard on [illegible] a specialty, which I [illegible] very [illegible] ing. My own experience will give a fair [idea] of [illegible].

I was sent for on one occasion to see a terrace in Pennsylvania. The owner of the place had built [illegible] mounds of rock and bowlders and planted them with ferns, tree ferns and forest plants. He and his gardener took every care of them, but nearly all the plants withered and died. I examined the place very critically, and was greatly puzzled. I was on the point of giving the matter up when it occurred to me to scratch the bowlders of which the rockeries were made. I pulled one out and shattered it with a sledge hammer, and then found that, instead of being [illegible] it was slag from a [illegible] furnace in the neighborhood, so full of lime and sulphur as to be a deadly poison to whatever [plants] grew near it. I [illegible] the [illegible] substituting genuine rocks for these [illegible] and there has been no trouble there since.

Another source of trouble and loss, and one that grows daily more and more common, is the poisoning of the atmosphere of [conservatories] by sewer gas, and [especially] by ordinary illuminating gas. Such places are almost always lighted by gas, and the [illegible] so arranged that when they leak the gas escapes into the soil as well as into the air. The latter is bad enough, but the former [is] ruinous. A very small amount of gas will kill the strongest tree, as everybody knows who lives in a large city. The only safe rule is to have the gas pipes run on the outside of the conservatory, introducing a bracket through the side or top, [illegible]. It is [illegible] to locate a [illegible]. Far better still is it to use the electric light, which not only does no harm but actually [illegible] the plants upon which it falls.

Floral decoration is an [illegible] task. Every [illegible] has [illegible] hobby which must be obeyed to the letter.

One wishes the most brilliant floral effects and has his garden or green[house] laid out with only the brightest colored flowers; another prefers leaf effects, and has everywhere [illegible] beds of plants with differently colored leaves; a third runs to vines and [illegible] and indulges in ivy, [illegible] and [illegible] upon [illegible] and every conceivable vine upon [illegible] trellises and arbors; a fourth cares only for orchids, and a fifth for rare [illegible].

The public is unaware of the vast [illegible] which are [illegible] in horticultural [illegible] up in the millions. I presume that the late Mrs. Morgan spent a million dollars in ten years upon her orchids and exotics. Jay Gould and [illegible] are two royal patrons of the floral world in the [illegible]. There are many [illegible] around New York city.

Jay Gould's [illegible] at Irvington is probably the most expensive, if it is not the [illegible]. He has one newly discovered orchid that is valued at $5,000.

Charles A. Dana owns a garden at Glen Cove which, to my eye, is as near an approach to perfection as human skill can produce. Mrs. S. L. M. Barlow, a neighbor of Mr. Dana's, has a magnificent estate [illegible] in this respect. A grapery there is a feature of the place. It is so thick and luxuriant as to almost form a perfect [illegible] against wind and rain.

Martin B. Brown, the public printer, has a garden and conservatory at Rockaway which [illegible] beautiful. The Yonkers residence of the late Samuel J. Tilden is another [illegible] of the florist's art. It is not kept up as it was during the lifetime of the [owner], but even today it ranks with the highest. Ex-Mayor William R. Grace has [illegible] his property at Great Neck, [illegible] into a very beautiful spot, but [illegible] landscape gardening and the mounting of plants rather than upon floral display.

Vice President Levi P. Morton has a superb place at R[hinecliff]. Its prior owner, William Kelly, was a perfect [illegible] horticulture, and [illegible] a good portion of his life and fortune to [illegible] the rough farm into an earthly [paradise]. He [illegible] the [illegible] so that when Morton [illegible] the property he found [illegible] of the [illegible] places in that part of the [illegible]. The [illegible] Cyrus Field and John J. C[illegible], on [illegible] is another [illegible] of horticultural science. A very [illegible] display of horticulture is found at John H. [illegible]'s Glen [illegible]. Not only are the [illegible] but the palms, ferns, cycads and other exotics make up one of the [illegible] in the United States.

Of the suburbs of New York many are notable for their [illegible] and [illegible] of [illegible], while others are extremely [illegible] ful. Those in which floral and horticultural [illegible] are [illegible] in the order of their [illegible]: Irvington, [illegible], Washington Heights, Orange, Greenwich, Montclair and Rockaway. The [illegible] toward floral art are largely on the [illegible] and [illegible] accessions to the new [profession] of the art florist.

FARR CENSUS.

WONDERFUL EDISON.

He Tells of Yet More Wonderful Things That He Is to [illegible].

The reporter asked Mr. Edison if it was true that he had invented a machine by the aid of which a man in New York would be able to see everything that his wife was doing in Paris.

"I don't know," said Mr. Edison, laughing, "that that would be a real benefit to [hum]anity. The women certainly would [illegible]. But, speaking seriously, I am at work on an invention which will allow a man in Wall street not only to telephone to a friend in the Central park, but to see that friend while he is chatting telephonically with him. This invention would be useful and practical, and I see no reason why it should not soon become a reality, and one of the first things that I shall do when I get back to America will be to set up this contrivance between my laboratory and my telephone [illegible]. Moreover, I have already obtained satisfactory results in reproducing [illegible] at that distance, which is only about 1,000 feet. It would be ridiculous to dream of seeing anyone between New York and Paris. The round form of the earth, if there were no other difficulty in the way, would make the thing impossible."

Speaking of the phonograph, the reporter asked if it had reached its highest degree of perfection.

"Almost, I think," said Mr. Edison, "in the last instruments turned out of my workshops. You must know that the ordinary phonograph employed in [commerce] does not begin to compare with the latest machines that I use in my private experiments. With the latter I can obtain a sound powerful enough to reproduce phrases of a speech that can be heard perfectly by a large [audience].

My last [illegible] were with the [illegible] which are the weak point of the [phonograph]. For seven months I worked from eighteen to twenty hours a day upon the single sound 'specia.' I would say to the instrument [illegible] and it would always say 'pecia,' and I couldn't make it say anything else. It was enough to drive one crazy. But I stuck to it until I succeeded, and now you can read a thousand words of a newspaper at the rate of 150 words a minute [illegible] and repeat them to you without a [illegible]. You can imagine the difficulty of the task that I accomplished when I tell you that the impressions made upon the cylinder are not more [illegible] millionth part of an inch in depth, and are completely invisible, even with the aid of a microscope."

[illegible] new discoveries [illegible].

Mr. Edison [illegible] would be difficult [illegible]. We [illegible] some day come [illegible] of the great secrets of nature [illegible] that [illegible] help me to solve the problem of [illegible] the [illegible]. I have worked hard upon this subject, but I am very much discouraged. We may find something [illegible] that comes, but that will come."

Mr. Edison further said that the great development of electricity will come when we find a more economic method of producing it. During his trip across the ocean he remained for hours on deck looking at the waves, and he says that it made him wild when he saw so much force going to waste. "But one of these days," he continued, "we will chain all that—the falls of Niagara, as well as the winds—and that will be the millennium of electricity."—Courrier des Etats-Unis.

A New Bait for Codfish.

The Newfoundland bait act, which prohibits the export of bait from that island, has had a most prejudicial effect upon the French bank fishermen, the price of fish bait in St. Pierre having been forced up to an almost prohibitive price. It is now stated that three French ships, instead of going to St. Pierre for bait, fitted themselves out with flat bott[omed], round baskets, with a hole at the top. These they sunk in seventy to eighty fathoms, and they were quickly filled with periwinkles of large size. The shells were crushed on deck and the trawls baited with live periwinkles. Codfish took to these most ravenously, and the vessels sailed for France with full cargoes the first week in July, instead of October, as usual, thus saving three months' time and hundreds of dollars in the purchase of bait. If this report is true, the discovery will bring about a revolution in the system under which the bank fisheries are now carried on.

At present the bank fishermen can only fish when they are provided with fresh bait. This [illegible] frequent visits to some bait procuring coast, the purchase of bait and of ice to keep it in good condition, and therefore the cost, both in time and money, of producing bait is very great. If the bait can be [cau]ght on one side of the ship and the cod on the other, there is nothing to prevent the fishermen from remaining on the banks during the whole fishing season, and the cost of a trip will be materially reduced. As Newfoundland has now almost a monopoly of the bait trade, and her bankers are privileged by law, this discovery will have a serious effect upon the fishing industry of the [is]land.—Montreal Witness.

The Sugar of Milk.

The manufacture of lactine, or sugar of milk, is a new industry in this country, which promises to [illegible] in the milk producing districts. Heretofore the manufacture has been confined to Switzerland and Bavaria. The wholesale price is twenty-five to thirty cents a pound. The first plant for the manufacture of lactine in this country was established at Hamburg, N. J. Another factory has recently been started at Oxford, N. Y. A third factory is about to be [start]ed at Unionville, N. Y., for the manufacture of the article on a large scale by a new process, which is claimed to yield a superior product at a reduced cost of production.—New York Telegram.

[illegible]

It has always been accepted that in cities the death rate in tenement houses is greater than the general [death] rate. This belief has recently been controverted, as far as New York city is concerned, by a careful analysis of the returns made to the health department. It was found that last year the general death rate per 1,000 inhabitants was [illegible] while the death rate among tenement dwellers was 22.71. Beyond this it was found that the death rate in large tenement houses is less than in the smaller [ones]. The chief reason for this difference of mortality to the advantage of tenement houses is attributed to the [illegible] of the [illegible] of the board of health in regard to them in both construction and appliances during recent years, while the construction and appointments of the hitherto supposed to be the most healthful class of houses have been left to the [illegible] of the architects and [illegible], excepting a [illegible] with the plumbing laws.—Boston Herald.

[illegible] the Whistling [illegible]

In New Haven they are determined to discourage the practice of whistling public buildings. A prisoner in the lockup climbed up a ventilator shaft and cut away a number of slats only to be nabbed by the vigilant watchman. Brought before the magistrate he was fined $30 and costs for damaging the building, in addition to receiving the penalty for the misdeeds that [illegible] him into the toils of the law.—[illegible] Transcript.

Seventy-three years ago Mrs. Sally B. Weeks Brickman, then a blushing bride, went to housekeeping in a snug farm house on the west slope of Mount Prospect, N. H. The other day in this same house in which she has lived ever since, she celebrated her one hundredth birthday, and was strong enough to receive [illegible] and [illegible] a large [illegible].

K[ossu]th.

Writing from Turin about her brother, General Louis Kossuth, who is now 86 years old, Mme. Ruttkay says: "He is enjoying not only good health for one of his age, but [retains] all the faculties of his mind. We live here, close to Turin, in a pleasant villa, surrounded by a [illegible] garden, which he planted himself and cultivated with the greatest care. Natural science is one of his greatest studies. Botany occupied a great deal of his time as long as he was able to climb the Alps. Now he has given it up, but has a fine collection of plants dried—about 4000 specimens—which he arranged with the greatest care. His sons are well situated and have ample opportunity to exercise their fine talents, improved by a generous education. Francis is director of the sulphur mines of [illegible], in Tuscany. Louis is chief engineer of the Alta Italia railroad line. Neither is married, their father does not desire it, perhaps because they have no opportunity to marry Hungarian w[omen]."

MANITOU SPRINGS.

Mr. O. S. Lyford has returned from a delightful trip to the mountains and is again at the Barker.

At a recent meeting of the town council the sum of $250 was [vot]ed to James Robertson, of Colorado Springs, in consideration of the injury received by him last winter while assisting the fire department. When the alarm of fire was sounded Mr. Robertson allowed the hose cart to attach to his wagon. In hauling them to the fire the wagon was upset, throwing him out with such violence as to break his left arm and right leg. [illegible]

The Warsaw, Ill., Bulletin contains the following notice of the late George J. Rogers, father of Mr. H. S. Rogers, city editor of the Gazette, who died on Thursday, August 29th, at his [home] in Warsaw, Ill.

The deceased was born in Berne, St. Albans county, N. Y., December 21, 1824, son of Peudel and Mary Rogers, natives of New York, who emigrated to Illinois and settled in Quincy. He was educated in Quincy and was there admitted to the bar, pursuing his studies in the office of Almeron Wheat. In 1849, animated by the spirit of adventure which took so many [illegible] to California he crossed the plains and spent two years on the Pacific coast. Returning to Quincy in 1851 he resumed the practice of law, and in 1853 he removed to Warsaw, here pursuing his profession until elected county clerk in 1869. In the fall of 1857 he was married to Miss Mary P., daughter of Major John Scott, to whom seven children were born, five of whom, Mrs. Minnie Carlin, Hiram S., Annie L., Nellie C. and John W.—with their mother, survive to mourn the loss of a devoted husband and father. Two children—George F. and May—preceded their father, and are buried at Carthage.

After his election as county clerk in 1869, Mr. Rogers removed to Carthage and there resided until 1883, when he returned to Warsaw and here made his home until his death.

Mr. Rogers served two terms from 1869 to 1877—in the capacity of county clerk, and for a time as member of the board of education of Carthage. In 1880 he was appointed U. S. deputy marshal to take the census of Hancock county, and his promptness and efficiency won for him the compliments of the official [illegible] in charge the [illegible] of Illinois—Mr. Rogers being the first deputy to make his report. On his return to Warsaw he was associated for a time in the practice of law with Capt. J. H. Finley, and after the latter's removal to Dodge City, Kansas, in 1885, Mr. Rogers continued in his profession alone. In 1888 he was elected supervisor and re-elected last spring. Back in the fifties he served as city clerk.

Thus is imperfectly outlined the life of a man who served his fellow men better th[an] he served himself. Generous to a fault, no worthy person [illegible] ever appealed to him in vain for assistance, and many an unworthy one [illegible] the kindness of his heart. Tender and compassionate, his services as well as his means were at the command of suffering humanity, and an appeal to sympathy always enlisted his interest. Kindly in all his relations, honorable in his business transactions, affable in his bearing towards everybody, he commanded the esteem of all who came in contact with him and numbered friends by the hundreds. A democrat [illegible] he was strong in his attachment to party, and yet he unquestionably numbered more friends among his political opponents and had a greater personal following than any other man of either party in this community. In his death we lose a most excellent citizen, humanity a warm friend, and the family a kind, good, loving husband and father. With those nearest and dearest to him who will come to them again no more forever on this earth the community bows in sorrow, for the affliction is one in kind though differing in degree.

The Zanzic Black Art company merited a better audience than was present at the opera house last evening to witness its performance. Harry Zanzic, who is the leading feature of the company, is a magician of much merit and his performance, while not so elaborate as that of Keller and other famous men in that line, loses nothing by comparison with theirs. AGENT FOR AUSTIN BLUFF LOTS. The finest suburban residence location combining view of mountain and plain—in the state. Beautiful parks, overgrown with large pine trees, unequalled as a health location; pure air, pure water, no smoke, no dust, plenty of sunshine. Lots in this beautiful suburb are large size, from one to four acres, being thus well adapted for fine residences. Only twenty minutes drive from center of our city. A motor line is already projected and will no doubt be built this coming season. Do not fail to examine this locality before purchasing. Carriage always in attendance to show property.

ALSO AGENT for the most desirable lots in Boulder Heights Addition. We handle only first class properties, and can guarantee satisfaction in every case. Buy only the best. If it does not pay you to invest in a desirable locality it certainly will not pay you to invest at all. Choice properties, improved and unimproved, in all parts of the city.

THE STREET CAR LINE is now being extended up to the Boston Land Co tract, so that parties wishing low priced properties in a very desirable locality cannot do better than to examine these. Lots on Cascade avenue only $250.

FOR SALE OR RENT. The Large Residence known as THE PINES, in MONUMENT PARK. Seven sleeping rooms; good water; 100 acres of land—This very desirable property can be rented furnished at a low figure to desirable party; or sold at a Bargain. No better location for boarders in the County. Trains on the D. & R. G. R. R. pass this place almost every hour of the day.
